

HOW TO RECEIVE YOUR FREIGHT DELIVERY

Prepare for Freight Delivery

Arrange to be present when the Freight Carrier delivers your order. If you cannot be there, recruit another adult (18 or older) who will handle your freight delivery for you. Freight shipments will NOT be left at your door without a customer signature.

You will be responsible for getting your order off the truck (within 15 minutes) and inside your delivery location without any assistance from the delivery driver. If it is a large shipment (heavy and/or many items), plan to have enough people at the delivery location who can easily lift and carry your items. Have tools handy to open boxes or remove packaging materials and your camera/phone ready to take pictures.

If you don't have a loading dock, a forklift or sufficient staff/assistance available, you may need to purchase Additional Freight Delivery Services

When Your Order Arrives

The Freight Carrier's driver will indicate which items are yours and present a Delivery Receipt or Bill of Lading for you to sign.

CHECK FOR DAMAGES and SHORTAGES before you sign for the delivery!

If you sign the Delivery Receipt, Bill of Lading or Electronic Signature Panel without making any notations, you are certifying there are no damages to the products (visible or concealed) and no missing products. You also forfeit your right to replacement products or a refund for product damages or shortages you may find after signing.

So, please DO NOT SIGN anything until you inspect your order.

Inspection for Damages & Shortages

You have the right and responsibility to inspect your order (within 15 minutes) before accepting it, paying particular attention to the following:

1. Missing Products

Make sure that the box/case quantities listed on the delivery receipt match the actual number of products you receive. For example, if you ordered 10 products and they are packaged with 2 products per box, verify that there are 5 boxes in the shipment.

2. Visible Damage

Visible Damage is damage to the outside packaging and/or product that you can see before the packaging is opened. Examine the product packaging for tears, dents or holes.

3. Concealed Damage

Concealed Damage is damage to the contents of a package you can't see until the package is opened. Carefully open all boxes/cartons to inspect for concealed damage.

Check for concealed damage right away – not longer than 48 hours after delivery.

If you find concealed damage after the time of delivery:

1. Keep the damaged product(s) with carton(s) and packing material.
2. Call the freight company to report the concealed damage.
3. Request and schedule an inspection with the freight company.
4. Get a copy of the inspection report and keep it for your records.

Upon Completion of the Inspection

If there are no shortages or damages, then simply accept the shipment by signing the Delivery Receipt, Bill of Lading or Electronic Signature Panel.

If you find that products are missing and/or have damage, make the appropriate notations on the Delivery Receipt or Bill of Lading next to the applicable product description or next to your initials on the Electronic Signature Panel of a handheld device:

1. If there are any missing products, write "Shortage".
2. If you find visible damage, write "Damage".
3. If you find concealed damage, write "Concealed Damage".

Contact us at 1-855-307-3864 immediately after the driver leaves if there is a shortage or damage of any kind. Please have a copy of the delivery receipt with your notations for reference.

Special Cases:

If the driver won't allow you to inspect your order, and you want to accept the delivery, write "DENIED INSPECTION BY DRIVER" on the Delivery Receipt, Bill of Lading or Electronic Signature Panel and sign it. This is for your protection and to assist with documenting the freight carrier's accountability should a problem be discovered after delivery.

- If there are shortages or damages and the driver won't allow you to notate these on the delivery receipt or the electronic signature panel, refuse the shipment.

Call our Customer Service Department at 1-855-307-3864.

- If you find that most of your order has been significantly damaged (for example, there is visible damage to most of the products), refuse the full shipment.

Call our Customer Service Department at 1-855-307-3864.

- If your order is delivered on multiple pallets and the products on one or more of the pallets are damaged, you can refuse those products and accept the rest of the delivery.
